Long cast wonder, even against upwind.

This pretty heavy jerkbait can be casted extremely far, even against the wind. In addition to the patented "weight-transfer system" consisting of a Tungsten cylinder, the flattened sides of the Rerange are responsible for the fact that it glides so incredibly far through the air. As soon as you crank up, the weight slips from the tail to the head and is magnetically fixed there. Due to its pronounced rolling the flanks flare up very attractive. The Rerange transmits thereby deep vibrations. Irresistible for large predators.
