The Flat Tricoroll range has a new smaller model. Small in size but every bit as efficient. Its ability to hang in strong currents and hold position is simply incredible! This is where being small has a big advantage particularly when working undercut banks where the strongest flow is pushing right into the bank. The lure has all the same features as the larger models. Whilst giving of a high level of vibration this lure can hold its line in even the strongest flow and can work down through a water column with a distinct rolling style that trout find particularly irresistible. The lure has proved equally effective on slower rivers fishing it just under the surface with rod held high fishing in open water or over weedbeds and obstructions.
